

ZEPHRA
The talk of the town, what? Zephra, the beautiful operatic spectacle which is to be produced at the Barre opera house commencing Wednesday, Jan. 22, and in which 200 of our young people have been in active training for the past three weeks. Zephra comes to our city with such strong indorsement as to leave no doubt in our mind as to its ultimate success, both from an artistic and a financial standpoint, and the week of Jan. 20th promises to be a gala one in the history of local attractions at the Barre opera house. To miss seeing Zephra will be to miss one of the rare treats of a life time. The scenic effects alone will be worth the price of admission, while the whole is a beautiful dream of fairyland. Don't forget that the advance sale of seats opens Monday at 9 a. m. at the Red Cross Pharmacy, where tickets for all performances will be on sale. The house has been about evenly divided at 50 and 75 cents. Secure your seats early, first come, first served.

An Editorial Opinion.

In 1901 The National Life of Vermont passed the $100,000,000 mark in insurance in force. In the last eight years it has doubled its income, its gross assets and its surplus. It wrote nearly $19,000,000 of new business in 1901. No company near its size made better progress than this, and it was made along lines of careful selection and persisting policy holders. In the National of Vermont, under prudent administration of President Dewey and his successor President Houghton, there is mutuality between the quality of the risk and the quality of the insurer.—The Weekly Underwriter. CITY NEWS.

The funeral of Mrs. Kate Meaker Sampson was held at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon from her late residence, there being a large attendance of mourning relatives and friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. Etie K. M. Jones. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Messdames Braley and Panton and Messrs. Howard and Dyer. A bewildering profusion of floral offerings testified to the universal esteem in which the deceased was held by a large circle of friends. The O. E. S., of which Mrs. Sampson was a member and officer, was present in a body and conducted special services. The burial was in Hope cemetery. The bearers were A. C. Blanchard, Gerry Blanchard, Geo. Quigley, L. A. Averill, Charles Averill and Clarence Cutler. By the death of Mrs. Sampson the community lost a most estimable woman, and universal sympathy is expressed for the relatives in their great bereavement.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church will hold their annual meeting Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock. At 6 o'clock an oyster supper will be served.
